The present invention relates to a new and distinct cultivar of Hydrangea plant, botanically known as Hydrangea macrophylla, commercially used as a cut flower, and hereinafter referred to by the name 'Hector'. The new Hydrangea is a product of a planned breeding program conducted by the Inventor in Dresden, Germany. The objective of the breeding program is to create new cut flower cultivars with desirable inflorescence form and floret colors. The new Hydrangea originated from a cross-pollination made by the Inventor in 1994 in Dresden, Germany of a proprietary selection of Hydrangea macrophylla identified as code number H 09/00-039, not patented, as the female, or seed,
