DOWNLOAD SHIMA SDS ONE A56 CRACKED[STOLL,LOGICA,etc] -.Adsorption of estrone by using variable-composition poly(ether-sulfone) dendrimers as sorbents. In this work, we examined the effect of variable-composition poly(ether-sulfone) (PES) dendrimers with different generations and surface charges on the interaction of estrone (E1) from aqueous solutions. The generation and surface charge of the PES dendrimer have a significant effect on the sorption and partitioning of E1 from aqueous solutions. The results demonstrated that the sorption capacities of the PES dendrimers with a lower generation number are much higher than those of the dendrimers with a higher generation number, because the sorption capacities of the dendrimers with a higher generation number are much lower than those of the dendrimers with a lower generation number. The dendrimer with the lowest generation number of G5 shows higher sorption capacity (291.16 mg g⁻¹), and the sorption capacity increases with the generation number of the dendrimers. A pH of the solution has a remarkable effect on the adsorption capacity of the dendrimers. The adsorption kinetics of E1 on the different dendrimers fitted better to a pseudo-second-order model, and the adsorption of E1 on the dendrimers could be described more accurately by the Freundlich isotherm.Q: How to deal with optional parameters in prolog?
