the jungle book is a story of friendship and loyalty, pride and prejudice, and revenge. it is also the story of one boy who is raised by animals and teaches them to be men. it follows the adventures of the boy named mowgli who was adopted by wolves and learned to live in the jungle. im just here to do my part, hopefully to make you laugh. i remember when i was a kid, i didnt want to read the book. i wanted to hear the story. i didnt realize then that this movie would be so good. i just love the story. its clear that phil harris was such a big part of the success of the first two the jungle book movies, and that he brought a lot of his family background to the role. he was a father figure, a confidant, and a natural leader who could be trusted to make the right decisions. while ive been working on this movie, ive been thinking about the story and the lessons of the book. ive always had a love for fantasy, and ive always loved the story of the jungle book. i wanted to do justice to it. step into this lush and vibrant world of the jungle as baloo and mowgli and you will encounter a whole new world. the jungle is filled with wonderful animals that can be found in any environment. you will see some of the most interesting characters in the jungle who try to battle against the odds to protect the jungle and each other. mowgli may feel like he is the only one of his kind. throughout the journey, he encounters other children who want to be like him. he feels like he is the only one who understands the jungle. he does not feel that he belongs anywhere. this is his journey through the jungle and his journey to discover his identity.
